This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

PREFACE.

The public, generally, can take but little interest in the following pages. They are intended principally for the use of the descendants of RICHARD HAVEN of Lynn, Mass., who came from England, about two hundred years ago. To them they are respectfully offered, as containing some account of their ancestry, and collateral kindred, which may be interesting to most of them, and which they might not otherwise have obtained.

The town and church records of Lynn, Framingham, Hopkinton, Holliston and Sherburne, and the Registries of Probate, and of Deeds, at Cambridge, have been principally relied on. And much assistance has been derived by comparing these with the recollections of aged persons, and by examining ancient papers, and the inscriptions on tomb-stones. For the full account of the Portsmouth branch, the reader is indebted to the kindness of Mr. Horace A. Haven, a distinguished graduate, at Cambridge, in the class of 1842, whose recent death has extinguised the fond and just hopes of his numerous friends.

The research has been extended much beyond what was, at first, contemplated, or was deemed practicable. And, after all, there are several branches, that have not been traced, and others but imperfectly. This has been owing sometimes to the impossibility, and sometimes to the difficulty and trouble of pursuing the inquiry; and sometimes also to the indifference, procrastination, and neglect of persons at a distance, to whom letters have been addressed, asking for information.*

The Author began with little knowledge of his ancestors beyond his grand parents. The first inducement to look further was a statement, in

*To give a specimen, I wrote to an elderly gentleman, asking some account of his branch. He answered promptly that a worse source of information could not have been sought; that he never knew before that he had any ancestors beyond his grand parents; but that he distinctly remembered his uncle John's girls, and, to speak poetically, they were Olly, and Anna, and Polly, and Fanny; that he had asked his brother John about the matter, who said he had a letter from me, some two years before, asking the same information; and that he supposed John would answer, when he should have had a reasonable time to think of it.

Farmer's Genealogical Register, that "JOSEPH, the eldest son of RICHARD HAVEN of Lynn, was one of the first settlers in Framingham, and was the Grandfather of the Rev. SAMUEL HAVEN, D. D. of Portsmouth." The same, in substance, had been stated in Lewis' History of Lynn. Knowing that his Grandmother Stone was a sister of Dr. Haven, he began searching the records of Framingham, and the other towns, for the names of JOSEPH Haven, and his descendants. Two of that name were found; one of whom was the father, and the other the maternal uncle of Dr. Haven. After much perplexity, and fruitless conjecture, there was no reason to believe that JOSEPH Haven, the son of Richard, ever came to Framingham; no mention being made of him after his birth, at Lynn, in 1649. In the search, however, it was ascertained, beyond doubt, that three of his brothers, viz: JOHN, NATHANIEL and MOSES, settled in Framingham; that JOHN and MOSES were the two Grandfathers of Dr. Haven; and, that HANNAH HICHINS and MARY BALLORD, of Lynn, were his two Grandmothers; which is his full allowance, whatever may have become of Joseph.

The tomb-stone of Joseph H. Esq. of Framingham, the father of Dr. H., shows that he was sixteen years old in 1714; and the Probate Records, of that year, show that a guardian was appointed over "JOSEPH HAVEN, aged 16, son of the late JOHN HAVEN, of Framingham." There is much other evidence, ALL tending the same way. Among other things, it will be seen that Joseph is the only son of Richard Haven, not mentioned in his will.

Whether the method, which has been adopted, be original is unknown to the author; he having never seen an attempt to trace both sexes through so many generations. It was found difficult to pursue any single branch, without referring to a subsequent page, for a continuation. The next generation will there be found. The reader may follow the references to the succeeding generations, or proceed with the collaterals, as may be most interesting to him. Such references, however, have been often dispensed with; mostly where the generations were few, and the numbers of each small.

The small figures, placed after a name, denote the degree, or remove from Richard, the common ancester. Thus, John[1], Joseph[2], Samuel[3], D. D., Nathaniel Appleton[4], Nathaniel Appleton[5]. To prevent confusion, and to enable the reader more easily to distinguish with the eye, the heads of each branch are set in large capitals; their children, with their husbands or wives, in small capitals; and the grand-children in italics.

In regard to the first and second generations, a disposition was felt to insert any facts, appearing on the records, though some of them may seem of little importance. They indicate something of the character and standing of the ancestor; and, being all that his descendants may ever be able to learn, it has been judged best to insert them. As to the later generations, it has been found both necessary and fitting to adopt a different course; because no room could be found for the insertion of so many characters, and because all, of any consequence, are yet in the memory of the living; to say nothing of the delicacy of discriminating among such a variety of characters.

Had the task been undertaken a few years sooner, before the decease of many aged persons, the account of the early generations might have been much more full. As it is, however, it may be deemed a benefit, by some of the descendants in future ages, that, by the assistance of the following pages, they can trace their descent from the first emigrant from England. Those of them, who shall take no interest in their ancestry, bending their whole energies to raise up other generations, will care nothing for this little book, or its author. But he has the proud consolation that they will have his testimony that they did not descend from him.

The author has the satisfaction to believe that the two tables of the Graduates will be highly valued. They show, at a glance, all the generations, between each graduate and the common ancestor. They have been compiled with great care, and are believed to be free from error.

If errors should be found elsewhere, as doubtless there will be, they must be imputed partly to the intrinsic difficulty of obtaining truth from imperfect sources, and partly to that liability to error, which the author inherits in common with the race. Should he be charged with having done too little—omitting many branches, and noticing others but imperfectly, he will balance the account, by claiming credit for having done so much.

THE GENEALOGY

OF THE

DESCENDANTS OF RICHARD HAVEN,

OF LYNN, MASSACHUSETTS.

RICHARD HAVEN is said, by Lewis & Farmer, to have come from the west of England, and to have settled at Lynn, Mass. in 1645, on a farm near Flax pond. He probably came a year sooner, as his first child was born there in February, 1645. Whether he took a wife in England, or found one here, is uncertain; probably the latter. It is believed that one or more brothers came with him. Mrs. Frail, of Hopkinton, aged 88, says that her father, Benjamin Haven of Framingham, used to say that his great grand-father, Richard Haven, came from England with three brothers, each of whom had four sons. It is probable that the graduates of the name, at Yale College, descended from one or more brothers of Richard; viz. Nicoll Haven, 1753, and Jonathan N. Haven, 1777; and that Charles H. Havens, 1806, and Daniel W. Havens, 1843, are of the same stock, with a letter added to the name. John P. Haven, bookseller, N. York, in a letter to the late Horace A. Haven of Portsmouth, writes, that, "Jonathan N. Havens," (spelt Haven in the Col. Cat.) "was of another family, whose first ancestor in the country settled on the east end of Long Island, who, it is said, was a brother of Richard, and came over with him. That family spelt the name with an s." President Dwight says, "the county of Suffolk, L. I., was originally settled from New England. A considerable number of the colonists were from Lynn." "The property of Shelter Island, principally, belongs to three families, Deering, Haven and Nicoll." (Dwight's Trav. Vol. 3, pp. 307 and 313.) In my researches I have not discovered any appearance of connexion, or even acquaintance, between the different branches.

Little is known of the situation and character of Richard Haven, and nothing of his origin. There is a deed of 13 June, 1681, from John Wastol, of Saybrook, Conn. to the children of his "loving kinsman," Richard Haven of Lynn, carpenter; conveying 3000 acres of land in Hebron, Conn., which he had by the will of Joshua Sachem; particularly 1000 acres thereof to John, son of said Richard. It is executed with the marks and seals of the grantor, and SUSANNA his wife, and recorded by the town clerk of Hebron, in 1718, book 1, page 173. It does not appear, by the records, that those lands were ever conveyed by any of the children. It does however appear, in book 2, page 93, that, in 1726, one Jonathan PAGE, as heir of Richard Haven, had 35 acres set off to him from "Haven's right, it being for land lost." This must have been a grandson of Richard Haven's son Richard.

The Lynn Records show that children were born of RICHARD HAVEN, and SUSANNA his wife, as follows:

HANNAH, 22 February, 1645; MARY, 12 March, 1647; JOSEPH, 22 Feb'y. 1649; RICHARD, 25 May, 1651; SUSANNA, 24 April, 1653; SARAH, 4 June, 1655; JOHN, 10 Dec. 1656; MARTHA, 16 Feb'y, 1658, died 14 June 1659; SAMUEL, latter end of MAY, 1660, died 1 Dec. 1660; JONATHAN, 18 Jan'y, 1662, died 3 July, 1664; NATHANIEL, 30 June, 1664; MOSES, 20 May, 1667.

The mother died at Lynn, 7 Feb'y, 1682. In 1692, it was "Voted that serjeant Haven," and seven others named, "should sit in the Pulpit." He made his will, 21 May, 1701, a copy of which is among the last pages. It was proved, 14 June, 1703.

HANNAH HAVEN[1] married a GOODELL. She was a widow at Lynn, at the date of her father's will, living in her own house, on her father's land. It appears, by the will, that she had then a daughter HANNAH, and one or more other children. On the 15 April, 1704, she was residing in Framingham, and John Haven indemnified the town against any charge for the support of "his sister Goodell and child."

MARY HAVEN and SUSANNA HAVEN[1] both married. One married JOHN TARBOX, and probably left him a widower, without children. He is called a "son-in-law" in the will, and no wife, or children are mentioned. The other married a COGSWELL, and had a son WESTOLL, who is called a "grandson" in the will.

JOSEPH HAVEN[1] is not alluded to in the will. All the other sons are expressly named. He must have died without children.

RICHARD HAVEN[1] had a wife SUSANNA. The Lynn records only show that they had three children, viz: HANNAH, 10 Aug. 1677; JOSEPH, 17 Aug. 1680; and SUSANNA, 1 Oct. 1686. It appears, by the will of JOSEPH, made and proved in March, 1748–9, that he had a "sister, SARAH HAWKS;" probably older than SUSANNA. HANNAH married JOHN PARKER, 18 July, 1693, then in her 16th year. It appears, by said Joseph's will, that they had Joseph, Sarah, Hannah, and Mary, and that the two last married and had children. JOSEPH appears to have been a bachelor, of considerable property. By his will, he gives £75 to Joseph, son of his deceased sister, Hannah Parker; £75 to the children of Hannah, a deceased daughter of said Hannah; £75 to the children of Mary, another deceased daughter of said Hannah; £75 to Sarah a daughter of said Hannah; £100 to his sister, Sarah Hawks of Lynn, widow; £100 to his kinswoman, Sarah, wife of Benj. Grey; £100 to his kinswoman, Hannah, wife of Jonathan Wait; £50 to his housekeeper, Abigail Edmunds; and to his Executors, Elkanah Hawks, and Jonathan Hawks, his "whole remaining estate." SUSANNA must have married a PAGE, and died, leaving Jonathan, the same before-mentioned as claiming lands in Hebron, as heir of his grandfather, Richard Haven.[1] By the excellent index to the Lynn records, made by Mr. Lewis, it does not appear that the name of Haven was continued, in that town, beyond the children of Richard Haven, jr.; nor am I able to learn that any of the descendants of Richard Haven, senior, are now living in Lynn. The first had died before the date of his father's will.

SARAH HAVEN[1] married a WHITNEY. She is called "my daughter, Sarah Whitney," in her father's will. Whether she had any children does not appear.

JOHN HAVEN[1] married HANNAH HICHINS, at Lynn, 3 Oct. 1682, by whom he had JOHN, born at Lynn, 8 June, 1683; ELKANAH, MARY and NATHAN, whose times and places of birth do not appear; JOSEPH, born at Fram., (then Sherburne,) in 1698, and HANNAH, in 1700, the year in which Fram. was incorporated. (See page 11.)

At the first town meeting, he was on a committee "to discourse with a lawyer." He was an original member of Mr. Swift's church, organized, 8 Oct. 1701. In the preceding May, he was on a committee to inquire as to the qualifications of Mr. Swift, and on another to give him a call. In July, 1701, he was on a committee to settle differences with Sherburne. In 1702, he was on a committee to "seat the meeting-house," and was also selectman and Representative; and was again Representative the next year. In May, 1704, the town voted to pay his attendance, "except Sundays." After this, his name is not on the town records. The church records, before the 29 March, 1717, are lost. His widow, Hannah, took administration, 2 April, 1705. He had the addition of "joiner." Real estate, £160; personal, £226. One item is "sord and walking-staff 6*s.*" This staff, with his initials, is now possessed by John Haven Mixer, his great-great grandson, now living in Worcester county, in the vicinity of Charlton. The widow, Hannah, married John How of Fram. July 1, 1712.

NATHANIEL HAVEN[1] had ten children by his wife ELIZABETH; born probably both before and after removing to Fram., where they are all recorded, on one page. MARTHA, 7 April, 1690; MOSES, 1 March, 1692; ELIZABETH, 11 Dec. 1693; MARCY, 26

Jan'y, 1697; SUSANNA, 13 Feb. 1699; MORIAH, 4 Sept. 1701; EXPERIENCE, 23 April, 1703; NATHANIEL, 8 Sept. 1704; JEDEDIAH, 23 Aug. 1706; JAMES, 4 March, 1710. (See p. 13.) The Lynn records show nothing of Nathaniel Haven, except his birth. He was a member of Mr. Swift's church in Fram., at its organization, in 1701; was surveyor in the same year; selectman in 1706; constable in 1707; in 1708, he was "ordered to sit in that seat behind the table," as was also his brother Moses, in 1710. In 1711, he was on committee to lay out a highway; was tythingman in 1723. In 1724, June 10, he married a second wife, HEPSIBAH RUGG of Fram. He was on a com. to locate the meeting-house in 1726; and nothing more appears of him till his death, at the age of 82 years, in 1746. His estate was not settled in the Probate office.

MOSES HAVEN[1] had settled at Lynn, and had five children, at the date of his father's will, in May, 1701. He was nominated the Executor, and the will indicates that he was expected to remain there. He did so until after his father's death in 1703, and was appointed Executor in June of that year. He must have removed to Fram. before 10 June, 1705, as his seventh child was born there on that day. He married MARY BALLORD of Lynn. Mrs. Sears, of Chatham, writes me that she was daughter of the great grandfather of William Ballord, senior, late of Fram., who married her sister, Anne Marshall. Farmer says there was a "William Ballord, of Lynn, in 1637; freeman, and member of Art. Co., in 1638; removed to Andover, and had sons, Joseph, William, and John, who settled there. There was a Nathaniel Ballord of Lynn, in 1650." He might have been the father, perhaps the brother, of MARY. Their children were born as follows: JOSEPH, 8 Feb. 1689; SUSANNA, 20 Oct. 1690; RICHARD, 28 Jan. 1693; MOSES, 11 Nov. 1695; MARY, 1 Oct. 1698; MEHITABEL, 30 Jan. 1702, all at Lynn; also, at Fram., SARAH, 10 June, 1705; and DANIEL, 16 June, 1708. (See p. 14.) He was on a com. to lay out a highway, in 1709; selectman, in 1710; constable, in 1711; moderator and selectman, in 1712; on com. to seat the meeting-house in 1715; treasurer and moderator, in 1717; selectman, treasurer, constable and moderator, in 1718; treasurer and sealer of leather, in 1719; on com. to fill vacant seats in the meeting-house, in 1720; on com. to hire schoolmaster in 1723; moderator, in 1725; on a com. to locate schools, in 1726; on com. to hire schoolmaster, in 1727; selectman and moderator, in 1728; moderator twice, in 1730, and was also on a com. to confer with Mr. Swift about his salary.

The church records show that he was chosen Deacon, 29 March, 1717; that he was a delegate to the ordination of Rev. Mr. Barrett, at Hopkinton, 2 Sept. 1724; March 21, 1725, "Deacon Haven spake that he should not hold forth the contribution box, because so few came to it." He married a second wife, ELIZABETH BRIDGES of Fram., 27 Nov. 1735, and died, 14 Nov. 1747, aged 80.

Jonathan Leland, Esq. of Sutton, who has furnished many interesting facts, writes me that he has seen his will, dated 1 July, 1746, (which was cancelled) in which he names his sons, Joseph of Hop., Richard, Moses, Daniel; and his daughters, Susanna TOWN, Mary WARD, Mehitabel HAVEN, Sarah HEMENWAY, and his wife SARAH. His "BROTHER NATHANIEL BALLORD" is also named in the will.

ELKANAH HAVEN[2], brother of the above, settled in Fram. His first wife was ABIAL BARBER, daughter of John Barber of Medfield, by whom he had MEHITABEL, 23 Aug. 1709; and ELIZABETH, 3 Feb. 1711. He married MARY WALKER, of Fram. 2 Dec. 1714; she died about 1716, soon after the birth of a son, JOHN. HE next married PATIENCE LELAND, of Sherburne, 5 Feb. 1717, by whom he had SYBILLAH, in 1717, who died 19 Feb. 1749. SHE married SAMUEL EAMES, jr. of Fram., and had Patience, 6 Jan. 1740; Samuel, 1 Feb. 1742; Ebenezer, 1 Sept. 1744; Sybillah, 3 April, 1747; MICAH, 21 June, 1719; ELKANAH, 21 July, 1721; and PATIENCE, 27 July, 1729. (See p. 16.) HE had a fourth wife, named LYDIA. He lived on the hill, south of the OLD Baptist meeting-house. He was constable, in 1720; was on committees, in 1725, and 1726; selectman, in 1730. He died suddenly in 1765. His son Dea. JOHN HAVEN, of Sutton, administered. His account is recorded, book 37, p. 339.

MARY HAVEN[2], sister of the above, married a JOHNSON. Mrs. Sears remembers that she was called "Aunt Johnson." "Nathaniel Johnson, and Mary Haven, married, 23 Nov. 1708." (Records of Sherburne.) It is believed that she left no children. "Nathaniel Johnson, son of Nathaniel and Mary, died 21 July, 1733." (Fram. Records.)

NATHAN HAVEN[2], brother of the above, settled in Fram., and lived in the old Grout house, near Holliston. His wife's name was SILENCE, by whom he had SILENCE, 21 Dec. 1713; NATHAN, 7 May, 1716; LOIS, 4 Dec. 1721; PHINEHAS, 6 Oct. 1723; BULAH, 6 Nov. 1725; and ANNA, 12 May, 1731. His birth does not appear, but he was taxed in 1710. He was hog-reeve in 1724; on com. to defend title, in 1726; constable, in 1729; admitted to church, with his wife Silence, 15 June, 1718; both baptized the next sabbath; will dated, 20 Sept. 1763; inventory returned, 9 April 1764; recorded, book 39, p. 22; no children named in will; property given to wife, SILENCE, and to grand children, Elisha, Silence, and Mehitabel Goddard, children of CAPT. ELISHA GODDARD of Sutton. The inventory contains a list of classical and literary books, willed to young Elisha Goddard. They had probably belonged to his son Nathan, (Har. Col. 1737,) who died young. The other children had also died; all without children, except ANNA, who married CAPT. ELISHA GODDARD, of Fram., afterwards of Sutton, and had 1. Elisha, 3 Dec. 1749, who died in 1771, without children; 2. Silence, 18 Nov. 1752, who married Maj. Jonathan Hale, of Sutton. They afterwards lived some years in Fram., where he was Representative, in 1795; she died there, 15 Jan. 1800. He removed to Haverhill, N. H. Their children were Nathan, John, Susanna, Mary, who married Wm. Coolidge, Mehitabel and Nancy; 3. Mehitabel, born 17 July, 1755, married Hon. Benj. Heywood of Worcester, and had Mehitabel, who died, 18 June, 1839; Nathaniel Moore, who married Caroline Sumner, of Boston, and died without issue, Oct. 1832; Benj. F., born 24 April, 1792, (Dart. Col. 1812,) physician, in Worcester. He married Nancy Greene, who died, 4 Aug. 1836; they had Benj., 16 July, 1821, (Har. Univ. 1840;) Caroline, 7 Aug. 1823; Frederick, 30 June, 1825, now a Junior, at Dart. Col.; John Green, born 24 May, 1828, died 10 Feb. 1833. Dr. Heywood next married Elizabeth R. Green, and had Nathaniel M., 26 July, 1839, died an infant; Nancy Green, 24 Dec. 1840; John, 1 March, 1843. Benjamin and Mehitabel Heywood, also had Joseph in 1794; Lucy, who died, an infant, in Nov. 1796; and Nancy, who died 30 Aug. 1814, aged 16. Their father died 6 Dec. 1816, aged 71. MRS. ANNA GODDARD, died in Oct. 1756, aged 25. Her HUSBAND died 19 Jan. 1784, aged 64.

JOSEPH HAVEN[2], brother of the above, settled in Fram.; married his cousin, MEHITABEL, daughter of Moses[1], 30 Nov. 1721. He had, by her, MEHITABEL, 29 Sept. 1722; ANNE, 1 April, 1725; SAMUEL, 4 Aug. 1727; MARY, 14 April, 1730; MARTHA, 19 Feb. 1733; JOHN, 2 June, 1735; SYBILLAH, 18 April, 1738, who died young; DEBORAH, 11 Dec. 1740, who also died young; and SARAH, about 1742. (See p. 17.) He was on a com. to defend a title, and to defend a suit, in 1726; surveyor of highways, in 1732; selectman, in 1733; and on a com., in same year, to defend Rev. Mr. Swift's complaint at court. He, and his wife, joined the church, June 9, 1723. He was a justice of the peace as soon as 1756; died 27 Feb. 1776, aged 78. His will is on file. In it, he liberates a slave, and orders plain gold rings to be made, with his name engraved, for each of his grand children, being about 40. His wife died 25 Jan. 1780, aged 78, which agrees with her birth at Lynn. Both have tomb-stones in Fram. They lived near where Joel Coolidge lived, and lately died.

HANNAH HAVEN[2], sister of the above, married BENJAMIN BURNETT of Harvard. They lived in Hop., and had JOHN, MEHITABEL, HANNAH, SARAH and LOIS. Mehitabel married a GOODELL, and lived in New-Braintree. The other three married late in life, and left no children. A letter, from Mrs. Sears, says,

"They were all very intelligent women." John probably died unmarried.

(From p. 10.) MARTHA HAVEN[2], eldest child of Nathaniel[1], probably married her cousin Elder JOSEPH HAVEN. His wife's name was Martha. They were both born at Lynn, and must have been playmates there. They were separated, by the removal of Martha to Fram., and until Joseph removed there, some years after, aged about 16. Martha was one year younger; and it does not seem unnatural that, while recurring to the sports of childhood, they should bestow some thoughts on the future. "John, son of Joseph Haven and Martha his wife, born, Nov. 30, 1711." (Fram. Records.) (See p. 14.)

MOSES HAVEN[2], brother of the above, lived in Fram., where Elijah H. Foster, his great, great grandson now lives. The house was burnt, and rebuilt, in 1736. He married SARAH BRIDGES of Fram. 14 April, 1720, and had BENJAMIN, 22 Jan. 1721; SARAH, bap. 12 Jan. 1724; SUSANNA, in 1725; MOSES, 3 May, 1728, died in 1750; ZERUIAH, 23 June, 1730; JESSE, 16 Nov. 1732; GIDEON, 10 March, 1734; LOIS, in 1735, who died young; ZEDEKIAH, 10 Sept. 1737. (See p. 19.) The parents "covenanted" 15 Jan. 1721. He was the sur. of highways, in 1726; sealer of leather, in 1728; his will was dated, 7 Aug. 1733; was proved, 19 Sept. 1743; real estate, £2,519; his widow was called SUSANNA. "Moses Haven and Susanna Claflin married, 22 July, 1742." (Hop. Records.)

MORIAH HAVEN[2], brother of the above, was admitted to the church, 7 April, 1728; I find nothing more of him, nor of his sisters, ELIZABETH, MARCY, SUSANNA, and EXPERIENCE.

NATHANIEL HAVEN[2], brother of the above, settled in Hop. By his wife HEPSIBAH, he had JOANNA, 11 May, 1725; NATHANIEL, 6 Aug. 1726, died in 1755; JONATHAN, 29 April, 1728; EBENEZER, 25 Dec. 1729; ABRAHAM, 24 March, 1732; DAVID, 14 June, 1734; HESIBAH, 7 June, 1736. (See p. 20.) He married a second wife, ABIGAIL, by whom he had CLARK, 4 Aug. 1744. He and his first wife owned the covenant, 28 March, 1725, and she was admitted to full communion, 21 May, 1727. He made a will, 24 Jan. 1763, which was proved, 4 July, 1763. In it, he names HANNAH his wife, and his sons, JONATHAN, EBENEZER, ABRAHAM, DAVID and CLARK; also his daughters, JOANNA, wife of DANIEL WELLS, HEPSIBAH, wife of ELKANAH HAVEN, BEULAH, wife of MOSES GLEASON, and SARAH. JONATHAN married ELIZABETH HAVEN, 24 Aug. 1749, probably daughter of Zedekiah and Miriam, born 11 Dec. 1729. "Moses Gleason and Beulah Haven, both of Oxford, were married by Robert Goddard, Esq., of Sutton, 23 May, 1760."

JEDEDIAH HAVEN[2], brother of the above, settled also in Hop. He was sur. of highways in 1738; on school com. in 1755; on com. to hire masters in 1773. He had a wife MIRIAM, by whom he had AMARIAH, 29 Aug. 1732, who married JANE GOULD, 3 Feb. 1757; HEZEKIAH, 1 Aug. 1734; MIRIAM, 29 March, 1737. HE married SARAH GOULD, in 1749, and had HANNAH, 12 March, 1759.

JAMES HAVEN[2], brother of the above, lived in Fram., where James Greenwood afterwards lived. By his wife SARAH, he had JAMES, 24 Nov. 1729; JAMES, 18 Sept. 1731; SQUIRE, 24 June, 1734, who married HANNAH BIXBY of Fram.; ELIZABETH, 2 Sept. 1736, who probably married ISAAC HEMENWAY of Fram. 28 Nov. 1754, and had Sarah, 13 Sept. 1755; Abigail, 15 Sept. 1757; James, 12 April, 1760; Isaac, 24 Oct. 1762; Sarah, 16 March, 1765; Rebecca, 5 March, 1768; Esther, 25 Nov. 1771; REBECCA, 26 July, 1743. JAMES HAVEN, (or perhaps his SON above,) married MEHITABEL BIXBY of Fram. 16 Nov. 1752, and had JAMES, 27 July, 1753; MEHITABEL, 23 Oct. 1756; WILLIAM, 4 May, 1759; and SAMUEL, 4 Jan. 1762, who probably married DESIRE CLOYES in Aug. 1784. In May, 1746, James, Nathan, Joseph and John Haven, and three others, asked to be dismissed from Mr. Swift's church, and were refused. In Sept. 1746, they requested the church to call a council, which was also refused. In Nov. 1746, Lydia, Silence, Sarah, and three Mehitabel Havens asked to be recommended to Rev. Sol. Reed's church; "considered disorderly," and referred to a committee. In April, 1747, eighteen women made the same request, and were refused. I have the following anecdote from the widow of Moses Fisk, aged 84. A committee of Mr. Swift's church waited on Mr. Reed, to inquire into his creed, and began by asking if he was a new light? He answered that he was an old light, new snuffed. Mr. Reed was the grandfather of Hon. John Reed, late member of Congress.

(From p. 10.) JOSEPH HAVEN[2], eldest child of Moses[1], settled first in Fram. His wife's name was MARTHA; probably the oldest child of his uncle Nathaniel.[1] (See p. 13.) He was a shoemaker, and lived, (as did also his son Dea. Moses,) in a house still standing on the "Mellen road," near the house of Col. Ellis. His aged grandson, Isaac Haven of Hop., says he was a man of pleasantry and humor, much more so than his son, Dea. Moses.

HE also died there lately, at a very advanced age. Israel Town, Esq., of Belchertown, is believed to be his great grandson. There were also TWO DAUGHTERS, names unknown. ONE married a LARNED, of Oxford, and died there, aged over 100. Her eldest son lately died, at a very advanced age. Susanna Larned, of Webster, a descendant of hers, married Rev. Geo. They were nearly of an age, he being the youngest child of Moses[1], and she the eldest of Elkanah[2].

The reader will excuse the feelings which induce the insertion of the following extract from the inscription placed over his grave:

"In his person, he was dignified and modest; in his intellect, vigorous and sound; in his heart, benevolent and devout. His preaching was plain and practical, and his example added greatly to its power. The scriptures were his study and delight; and, while he exercised the Protestant right of expounding them for himself, his candor toward the sincere, who differed from him, was in the spirit of the Gospel. The good Being, whom he loved with supreme devotion, was pleased to grant him many years of prosperity and gladness, and to add not a few of affliction and sorrow. The first, he enjoyed with moderation and gratitude;

DEAR COUSINS,

The labor bestowed on the foregoing pages is more than compensated by the seeming acquaintance, which I have with you all. The coming year, as nearly as can be ascertained, will be the second Centennial Anniversary of the landing of our Common Ancestor, on the shore of Religious and Civil Liberty. Allow me respectfully to propose a meeting of his descendants, at this place, on the sixteenth of April next, at 2 P. M., to choose a Committee of Arrangements for a public celebration.

THE WILL OF RICHARD HAVEN.

IN THE NAME OF OUR LORD GOD EVERLASTING, AMEN. I, RICHARD HAVEN, of Lynn, in the county of Essex, in the Province of Massachusetts Bay, in New England, being aged, and weak of body, yet God, of his goodness, affording to me my right understanding, I take this opportunity to make this My Last Will and Testament, as followeth. I resign up my spirit into the hands of my blessed Redeemer, the Lord Jesus Christ; my body to the earth, to be decently buried, at the discretion of my Executor, hereafter named; and, for my worldly estate, I Will and Bequeath as followeth:

Imp. That all my just and honest debts be duly and honestly paid.

I give to my son John Haven, five pounds in good pay, to be paid within two years after my decease, fifty shillings per year.

I give to my son Nathaniel Haven, five pounds in good pay, to be paid within two years after my decease, fifty shillings per year.

I give to my grandson Joseph Haven, the son of my son Richard Haven, deceased, five shillings; the reason I give him no more is because I have given his father considerable before his decease.

I give and bequeath to my son Moses Haven, his heirs and assigns, forever, my dwelling house and barn, and all that lot of land, where my house and barn now stands, excepting only so much as I, in this my will, give to my daughter Hannah Gooddell; also, I give to my son Moses Haven, his heirs and assigns, two lots of land lying in Rumney marsh, containing eleven acres at the least, with the full and just half of my lot of upland lying in Ramsdell's neck, so called, with all the privileges and appurtenances belonging to said house and lands, and all my moveable estate not disposed of in this my will; and he to pay all the legacies herein mentioned.

I give and bequeath to my daughter Hannah Gooddell the land her house stands on, and my little orchard, bounded westward by the land formerly Thomas Brown's; southward, by the highway; eastward, as the fence now stands; northward, within two poles where the barn now stands; my son Moses, to have half the fruit that shall grow upon the pippin tree, in said orchard, for seven years years after my decease; and my will is that the yard, that now lies open, shall so remain for the use of both houses; and after the decease of my daughter Hannah Gooddell, then, if my son Moses Haven, or his heirs, shall see cause to pay to the heirs of my daughter Gooddell, the full value of the house my said daughter now lives in, and the land said house stands on, and the said little orchard, as shall be appraised by three indifferent men, if the parties cannot agree about the same, then my will is that the said house, orchard, and land, shall be to my son Moses Haven, and his heirs forever; or else, my will is that the said house, orchard, and land, as it is bounded, shall be to the heirs of my daughter Hannah Gooddell, and their heirs and assigns forever; also I give to my daughter Hannah Gooddell, her heirs and assigns, the one full and just half of my lot of upland lying in Ramsdell's neck so called.

I give to my son in law, John Tarbox, one shilling.

I give to my daughter, Sarah Whitney, one cow.

I give to my grandson, Wentel Cogswell, one shilling.

I give to my grand-daughter, Hannah Parker, twenty shillings.

I give to my grand-daughter, Hannah Goddell, my great iron kettle, and one brass pot, and one pewter platter.

I give ten pounds in pay, to be divided equally among my son Moses Haven's children.

I give ten pounds in pay, to be divided equally among my daughter Hannah Goddell's children, to be paid within four years after my decease.

I give to my son, Nathaniel Haven, all my wearing clothes.

Further, my will is that what legacies I have given in this my will, particularly mentioning pay, that so many of them as my executor shall see cause to pay in money, there shall be one third part abated of the sum that is therein mentioned.

I will and appoint my son, Moses Haven, my lawful and sole executor to this my last will and testament; and, for the confirmation hereof, I, the aforesaid Richard Haven, have set to my hand and seal, this twenty-first day of May, Anno Domini, one thousand seven hundred and one, in the thirteenth year of the reign of our sovereign lord, King William the third of England, &c.
